

Ms. Zepeda's Counselor News

December 2016

NOTES

With the holiday season upon us, it is important to remember to keep our students engaged with their learning over the winter break. This can be done by making sure your child continues to practice their reading and writing, as well as, finding opportunities for them to explore and participate in community activities.

Having outside experiences where they get to socialize and be a part of their community, is just as important as keeping up with their academic schoolwork.

Be sure to check out what local festivities will be happening this holiday season!

WHAT WE ARE LEARNING

For the month of December, I will be visiting classrooms to discuss what it means to be a RESPONSIBLE citizen both at school and within our community. Being RESPONSIBLE is one of our three school rules, and it is important to encourage students to act responsibly in all situations they might find themselves in.

What does RESPONSIBILITY look like?

- To behave in a respectful way
- To do the things you are asked to do
- Being held accountable for your actions
- To be trusted with completing duties and chores
- Being kind to others <3 <3 <3
